For Immediate Release

CIQS proud to announce the 2021-2022 board of directors

Markham, ON, September 13, 2021 – CIQS held a virtual Annual General Meeting on September 9, 2021. During this meeting, CIQS chair Erin Brownlow and CIQS chief executive officer Sheila Lennon made brief speeches about the state of the Institute, followed by votes on by-law changes, and the appointment of the auditor and 2021-2022 board of directors.

This year, there were three director positions available for the board which were filled by the following:

Tammy Stockley, PQS
2-year term
(re-elected for a second term)

Dominic Leadsom, PQS
3-year term
(NEW)

Antoine Aurelis, PQS
3-year term
(NEW)

Congratulations to our newly elected directors! We look forward to your contributions over the course of your term.

Chief Executive Officer (ex-officio)	Sheila Lennon, CAE

Erin Brownlow and Sheila Lennon wish to thank everyone who completed their terms this year. They appreciate the time they donated and knowledge they shared as they took an active part in the governance of their Institute. Thank you to this year's outgoing directors, Jerry Crawford, PQS and Roger Ward, PQS(F).

Immediately following the AGM, the session moved into the Year In Review, which this year was presented in a video format where Sheila Lennon (CEO) and Alexandra Parliament (PR/Marketing Consultant) presented on the projects that volunteers and CIQS team have worked on over the past year. There was a special focus on the exceptional strides the Institute has made in government and external relations. A copy of the video will be available for viewing in the member portal of the new website which will be launched later this month.
